Brief History

The Engineers Society of Pennsylvania was originally founded on March 31, 1904 under the name of the Engineers Club of Central Pennsylvania, and was incorporated as a non-profit corporation under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on February 5, 1906. On December 2, 1909, the Dauphin County courts granted a petition to change the corporate name to the Engineers Society of Pennsylvania. The annual membership dues were originally set at six dollars.

As stated in the Constitution, the mission of the Society is the advancement of science and engineering. The Society serves the engineering community and the community at large through its activities, and welcomes members associated with all disciplines of engineering, in both the public and private sectors.

The Society is self supporting, using the $25 annual dues to provide for program activities, publications, newsletters, and other miscellaneous expenses. Society functions are offered to the members at cost or free of charge. The membership has NEVER been called upon for any additional contributions or assessments.
