It is time again for the annual Engineers Week dinner and awards ceremony sponsored by the Central Pennsylvania Engineers Week Council. Each year the CPEWC celebrates the engineering profession by organizing a number of activities and events around the midstate that showcase the various interests in the engineering world.

The week culminates with the dinner and awards ceremony, honoring four individuals who have made a significant contribution in engineering. ESP is proud to be a sponsor and member of the CPEWC and invites all of our members to attend the dinner on February 19, 2009.

This year promises to be as exciting as years past. After dinner, the CPEWC will present the awards to recipients for the John H. McCormick Educational Outreach, Technical Achievement, Young Engineer of the Year and Engineer of the Year. Finally, guest speaker Tom Russell, CBS 21 chief meteorologist, will discuss the parallels between engineering and meteorology. Please refer to the attached flyer and RSVP form and plan to attend the CPEWC dinner and awards ceremony.
